

Wednesday 23rd November 2011, 5-6.30pm, Mansfield Cooper 4.10
Zelda Baveystock, Acting Deputy Director of the Museum of Liverpool

Creating the new Museum of Liverpool

Zelda Baveystock, Acting Deputy Director of the Museum of Liverpool, will explain how National Museums Liverpool has developed a new city history museum. The talk will highlight in particular the process of developing a major new national museum, from the work of the curatorial team to the thousands of Liverpoolians who helped create it. It will explore how messages, stories and more than 6,000 objects have been chosen to create powerful exhibitions.

Everyone Welcome!

For more information contact: Louise.Tythacott@manchester.ac.uk